(ASSESSMENT) The financial authorities assessed that the growth of household loans in the first half of 2024 has been on a stable path within the level of GDP growth rate. However, with mortgage loans continuing to expand and looming uncertainties regarding the future of macroeconomic conditions, such as interest rates and housing market situation, the financial authorities will continue to stay alert and tightly manage the pace of household loan growth within the level of annual GDP growth by ensuring a seamless implementation of the second phase stressed debt service ratio (DSR) rule from September this year.
